Notes for Joseph Mason Eustis:

In 1857 he moved from New England to Minneapolis, MN and with his own hands cleared away hazel brush and shoveled the first dirt for the Nicollet House, Minneapolis' first hotel. He was advised by several leading citizens to abandon his interest in the Nicollet House, but he carried on through to completion and the opening in May 1858 coincided with Minnesota statehood. Nudd and Eustis were the first proprietors and managers. Mr Eustis, who was afterward sheriff of Hennepin County, had been a hotel manager in Boston, and was brought here from that city ... His wife, Mrs J M Eustis, who still resides at 635 Fourteenth St, south, cooked the first breakfast and meal at the hotel for a small gathering of select friends. She will be present at the proposed Fiftieth anniversary banquet. Others who are still in the city and are expected include ... Albion Barnard.

During the Civil War, he made a contract with the US government to feed all Minnesota soldiers for 37 cents per day. He was also engaged in the lumber business with W.E. Jones and Company for about 5 years and built a block on Hennepin Ave. He was one of the original group to select the site for the Minnesota State Fairgrounds, laid out the race track, and erected several buildings. He also was a contractor for the Northern Pacific Railroad and until 1880 was employed by the St. Louis Railroad.

Prof. P.M. Whitman Died Yesterday

countless friends throughout the city and the state. Professor Whitman had not been in robust health for about a years and had been confined to the house for some days, but he was not considered ill. Thursday he suffered an apoplectic stroke and died Friday at 2 pm. A funeral service was held at his residence, in the presence of a few intimate friends and close neighbors, last night at 8 o'clock, conducted by the Rev Joseph Sevier of the First Presbyterian Church, but the interment will take place today in the family section in Beaufort, SC, the funeral cortege leaving early this morning for Beaufort.

In 77th Year of His Age

Professor Whitman was in his 77th year. He was born in Bangor, Maine. The early years of his life were spent in he North and he married a northern lady, Miss Sarah Eustis, of Maine. When they first came south the made their home in Beaufort, from where they moved years ago to Augusta. Professor Whitman was one of the first scientific opticians ever in the south. His office formerly was in the old Chronicle Building on the south side of the 700 block. Later he moved to upper Broad and then to McIntosh Street, and in all these places he conducted a successful business, having been considered one of the leading and most successful opticians of the entire South. During the past year, as he felt the infirmities of age approaching, he sold out his business to Moorman & Sancken and has retired from all business cares ever since.

Professor Whitman is survived by his devoted wife. His niece, Mrs W R Bristol of Beufort, is his nearest relative in this section. Mr Bristol is a prominent business man there.

A Splendid Gentleman

There was probably no man of his generation in the entire community better known and more universally respected than Professor Whitman. He was a consecrated Christian and one of the most faithful and consistent members of the First Presbyterian Church. He stood high in the business world, for his perfect integrity caused his word to be as good as his bond on all and every occasion. While Professor Whitman never seemed to care much for social life, he was always gracious and pleasant to young people as well as old, but seemed to want to be always the close companion of his wife, one of them rarely ever being seen in public without the other. It was a beautiful married life, and a lesson to the younger people of the community. The sincerest sympathy of all who knew them will be extended to his bereaved wife in this hour of sorrow, and throughout Georgia and South Carolina many friends will mourn his loss.
