Notes for James Alexander Mulford:

These notes are derived from the letters in the Journal of Lewis C. Burnett and History of Coles County, IL published 1879. The latter has on page. 552 (Mattoon Township) a biography of J.A. Mulford, "wholesale dealer in hides, leather, findings, furs, pelts and tallow, Mattoon. ... at age of 17 he began the trade of a jeweler" (implication was it was in NJ)(was this Benjamin Eaton??). subsequently he was employed as an accountant. Came to Mattoon spring of 1867 and began operating in hides for the Chicago markets.

Lewis Burnett's journal for 1867 says, "I worked for the Burnett Bros. until April, when I went to Chicago to take a commercial course. On April 19th I received a letter from Bro. Will saying that Cousin Alexander Mulford was going into partnership with them and would put in $4000." "During November 1866 I think it was, Burnett Bros.' hired man and myself went in south of Mattoon Ill. to buy hides and pelts." letter from George A Beardsley, Sept 1867 says, "Where is Alex Mulford I do not see his name in the circular. Lewie tells us that he is bookkeeper now. GAB "

Several generations of the Burnett family were associated with the leather business; Stephen G Burnett had a tan-yard for the tanning of leather in Terre Haute. Virgil J. Burnett's sons William & Lewis sold hide, leather & fur at various times, as did a number of Virgil's grandsons.
