

Descendants of Wilson and Mary Lucking

Generation 1

1. WILSON¹ LUCKING was born in Oct 1792 in Hatfield Peverel, Essex, England. He died on 24 Jul 1865 in Great Waltham, Essex, England. He married Mary Luckin, daughter of Joseph Luckin and Jane Edith Mumford, on 09 Jan 1815 in St. Katherine Coleman, London, England. She was born about Nov 1790 in Great Waltham, Essex, England. She died on 08 Feb 1866 in Great Waltham, Essex, England.

Wilson Lucking was buried in Great Waltham, Essex, England (Saint Mary & Saint Lawrence Churchyard).

Notes for Wilson Lucking:

Wilson went to Witham School; he was a farmer of some prosperity in Great Waltham. Said to have died at Kyes Farm, Great Waltham.

Mary Luckin was buried in Great Waltham, Essex, England.

Notes for Mary Luckin:

Census records give her birth date as about 1795; however, there was only one Mary Luckin born in the parish of Great Waltham from 1780 to 1803 (November 24, 1790) who cannot be documented as dying in childhood. I believe that she altered her age to be a shade younger than her husband rather than a shade older. This is consistent with her death certificate which gives her age at death as 75.

Wilson Lucking and Mary Luckin had the following children:

2. i. MARY ANN² LUCKING was born on 29 Mar 1815 in Great Waltham, Essex, England. She married John Mumford, son of James Mumford and Mary, on 08 Feb 1844 in Great Waltham, Essex, England. He was born on 12 Dec 1810 in Elsenham, Essex, England. He died about Apr 1881 in Dunmow, Essex, England.

Notes for Joseph Alfred Lucking:

History of Washtenaw County, MI 1880. page 1218 "proprietor of meat market, is a native of England where he was born in 1831, son of Watson Lucking, a butcher of Great Waltham, Essex, and died in England. His mother was Mary Lucking, same name but not related. Mr. Lucking left England in 1847 and came to Toronto, Canada where he learned his trade. Living there until he was 23 years of age, he came to Ypsilanti, and shortly after went into business on Congress St. He is the oldest butcher in the city; has a slaughter house at the suburbs, and kills annually a great number of cattle, hogs etc. His experience has made him a good judge of beef. He owns the building where he is located, also other city property, being very comfortably situated in life."

He married the sister of a butcher; later they moved to Michigan, but he visited family in England more than once. The house he built was later bought by Henry Ford, who may have placed it in Old Dearborn.

Ellen Margaret Ford was buried in Ypsilanti, Washtenaw Co., Michigan (Highland Cemetery).

He married Sarah Lavia Rose, daughter of Oliver Tennant Rose and Mary Ellen Eddy, on 23 Feb 1881 in Ridgeway, Lenawee Co., Michigan. She was born on 05 Nov 1857 in Petersburg, Monroe Co., Michigan. She died on 03 Mar 1934 in Detroit, Wayne Co., Michigan.

Alfred Edward Lucking was buried on 05 Dec 1929 in Detroit, Wayne Co., Michigan (Woodlawn Cemetery).

Notes for Alfred Edward Lucking:

According to his former secretary, Marie Tritle, in 1994, Alfred was always meticulously dressed; he wore winged collars and had a collection of stickpins. He wore a derby unless he was going to golf, in which case he wore a fedora. When he went out during the day he always told the secretaries where he was going unless he was golfing, in which case he would just say that he wasn't going to be returning.

Alfred was a well-to-do but very frugal man. He drove a "Tin Lizzie" (a Model T) which Dad remembers well. Vie Lucking had a Baker Electric which looked like a Concord coach without the horse. It had a tiller rather than a steering wheel, and Dad recalls the tremendous banks of batteries in the garage at 1086 Burns Ave. She could drive this car, and she did so at least every Sunday, when she went to church (she was very devout.)

When Henry Ford bought the Lincoln factory, Alfred scoffed at the notion of having such an expensive car. Mr. Ford, however, insisted that his general counsel have a more appropriate vehicle, and it was thus a command, as Ford was an autocrat. Well, Alfred might have to BUY the car but he sure wasn't going to drive it. So he gave it to his wife, who had been perfectly happy with her electric car. She couldn't drive the new car, so they had to hire a full-time chauffeur, a black man named Albert Perry. (this man may have been a family retainer before that.) But Dad says that Alfred was "revolted" at the expense.

Sarah Lavia Rose was buried in Detroit, Wayne Co., Michigan.

Notes for Sarah Lavia Rose:

She was known as "Vie" Loree; her mother was widowed when Vie was very little and later married Dr. Darius Loree. Most documents list her as Loree. Her marriage license gives her as "S. Lavina Rose."
